THE SOUL OF THE SOIL

Receiving all directly and indirectly information about climate change and pandemics during quarantine in a small room in the concrete city result in stress. We could not go outside for avoiding epidemics and infections. The anxiety make us think of nature, to imagine our feet touch the soil where is full of incredible tiny life to get feeling of soul as oneness with them. Mother earth make us to understand the life goes on even many things changed and may not be the same.
